LIVELY PROCEEDINGS

In Police Court Yesterday When Chief of Police Mackey and Former Chief of Police M. J. Donovan Engaged in Fist Fight.

Yesterday afternoon in Police Court
M. J. Donovan, former Chief of the Maysville Police force, was arraigned on a charge of furnishing liquor to a minor, one John Morris of Fairview.
The arguments pro and con lasted for about one hour and then Mr. Donovan asked the permission of the Court to say a few words and it was granted.
In part he intimated that Chief of Police Mackey had not the right to allow the boy, John Morris, to return to his home, as had been done, and thereby a lively argument was started between the Chief and ex Chief and it became so heated that Police Judge Whitaker had to rap for order several times before the two men could be induced to refrain from discussing the subject in vain.

Judge Whitaker made a resume of the case and found that sufficient evidence to convict Mr. Donovan was not obtainable and the case was dismissed.
At this juncture the argument was started afresh and ended in Mr. Donovan hitting Chief Mackey below the left eye and knocking him over a chair.
Mr. Mackey then made a rush at Mr.
Donovan but the Police officers and several spectators rushed in and prevented a serious mix-up.
The courtroom, which was filled with spectators at the time the truce started, was almost deserted by the time the truce was restored.
No charge has been placed against either of the gentlemen yet.

FERRY SUSPENDS OPERATION

The Ferryboat Laramie has been forced to suspend operations between this point and Aberdeen on account of the low stage of the river. The river is lower here than it has been for a long time and thus the first time that the ferryboat has had to cease operations on this account for a number of years.

TALCUM FOR POLISHING RICE.

Louisiana State Rice Milling Co., New Orleans.

An article which we find difficult to procure in this country is a very high-grade talcum, used for the polishing of rice. We have, up to the time of the European war, purchased our entire requirements from Austria. They were able to supply a very high-grade of Austrian Stearin tale.

There is quite a variety of domestic tale, but so far we have not found anything equal to either the Austrian or Italian article. We should be very glad to have you put us in touch with a house in this country, in a position to furnish something equal to these goods.

(Note.—Other replies will be printed in The American Economist in succeeding issues.—Ed.)

THE FREE-TRADE RESULT.

The American farmer pays for the privilege of selling his products in an American market—the privilege is paid for in the way of taxes; but the Argentine farmer, the Canadian farmer, the Australian farmer and every other farmer in the world has been given the privilege of selling in the American market without its costing him one red cent. Is it fair to thus discriminate against our fellow countrymen.—Brookfield (Mo.) Gazette.

The constitutionality of the surtax imposed by the new Federal law on incomes over $20,000 was raised in a case docketed July 30 in the Supreme Court by John F. Dodge and Horace E. Dodge, Detroit automobile manufacturers. Two cases already before the court complain of the invalidity of other features of the law.

Whatever the result of the European war may be, Great Britain will take the first opportunity to revise its tariff. There will be need of greatly increased government revenues and there will be an irresistible demand in the land of Cobden for duties high enough to shut out everything "made in Germany."

Men in Congress seem to take malicious pleasure in devising new schemes to hamper business. For example, Mr. Evans, of Montana, has drafted a bill in the House making it unlawful for a carrier in interstate commerce, inclusive of ship lines, to transport strike-breakers.

The home trade of the United States for the last year is estimated by the Federal government at $40,000,000,000. The entire foreign trade (imports and exports) for the same period amounted to only $4,258,504,805.

The falling off in immigration at New York for the first week in August was 30,000 as compared with the number for the same week last year.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Tell us, won't you, Underwood,
Do please tell us why,
That when Tariffs are made low Bread is always high?

THE WAR AND THE TARIFF.

The financial editor of the Boston Post analyzes the effect of the war upon our industries in a way that must seem heretical to the editorial department of this typical Democratic paper.

Here is what the Post's financial editor says:

"When the first big shock caused by the outbreak of the great European war is over and the money situation can be brought back to anything like a normal basis, it is believed that certain industries which were in a way to suffer more or less from revised tariff schedules will—so far as the tariff is concerned—be restored to the same condition as prevailed prior to the revision. In a word, the outbreak of the war has practically nullified the revised tariff schedule entirely, and left the home market without competition from abroad. In the steel and iron and the textile industries, especially, it is believed that many concerns which were struggling to readjust their operations to the new tariff will be able to go ahead on their old methods. Of course a good deal will depend upon how domestic business works out with the big war going on, but the general impression is that in a short time the European nations with practically their entire productive forces under arms will have to depend on the United States for almost everything they wear and eat.

"It is true that our manufacturers are being handicapped by the fact that they are unable to secure certain products which enter into the process of manufacture, such as dyes in the textile field, hides in the shoe industry and ferro-manganese in the steel trade; but it is expected that this will be overcome in some cases by substitutions and by imports from neutral countries in others. The main problem is to get ships to carry on foreign trade and to clear the ocean so that such trade is safe and economical."

RETRIBUTIVE JUSTICE.

The tax of 20 cents a gallon on domestic wines, one of California's principal products, makes it appear that retributive justice is right on the heels of a commonwealth which cast less than 4,000 votes two years ago in favor of the party that was under fire because of the enactment of a Tariff law which fostered California industries and gave the State such prosperity as it never before had experienced.—Indiana State Journal.

LIVELY TIMES NEAR THE SEELBACH.

You Kentuckians—that is some of you—I fear, are disposed to be flirtations and fickle," says Bert Winters, member of the State Accounting Commission, of Indiana, who had business in the southern part of the State the latter part of the week and ran over to Louisville to see the races.

"I was standing at Fourth and Walnut streets," he goes on, "when a chap who had the ear marks of a Gussie boy, accosted me.

"'T beg yonah pardon,' he began, 'but did you happen to see a tall, handsome blonde in lavender turn the corner and go out Walnut street a minute ago?'

"'No, I didn't,' I said, 'but I happened to see a stunning little brunette in black.'

"'Would you mind telling me which way she went, he questioned.

"'She went out Walnut street,' I answered.

"'The last I saw of him he was headed out Walnut street!'"—Louisville Times.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Miss Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

BLOWING THE CIRCULATING MEDIUM.

(Cincinnati Engineer.)

Into the environs of the slow, old-fashioned Southern city made famous by the misadventures of a character no less renowned than "Old Reliable," two members of an all but obsolete profession presented themselves one October day. They were chimney sweeps. Having performed their work, they awaited the generous recompense that followed the perilous passage of wide chimneys, such as are no longer built.

"You make good wages, my men," said the bookstore proprietor in a patronizing tone, "and, may I ask, what do you do with your money?" The chief black-smoker turned to his friend with an air of intimate understanding, then answered the inquiry in deprecatory fashion: "Well, sor, to tell you the truth, we circulate it!"

PUBLIC SALE

If not sold privately previously, and considering the serious condition of my eyes, I will offer at Public Sale to the highest bidder on October 14th, 1914, at two o'clock, p. m., at the courthouse in Maysville, Ky., my farm, containing one hundred and fifty-two acres, two rods and twenty-six poles. It is situated on the Minerva and Dover turnpike, about one and a half miles from Peru, La. This farm has on it a residence of nine rooms and another house of five rooms, and the necessary outbuildings; also a splendid tobacco barn, eighty-four feet long, a stripping house and large ice house. It is well fenced, with woven wire fence, and well watered. Is all in grass but about fifteen acres, which is in corn. I have no hesitancy in stating that this is one of the best farms in that location of the county, all of the land is walnut, sugar tree and ash, grows a very fine quality of tobacco. There is also an abundance of locust timber and sufficient fruit. It is convenient to one of the best schools in the country, with four school wagons passing to convey the children to school, also several churches near, and is in a splendid neighborhood, which is very essential in seeking a location. The farm will be offered as a whole and in two tracts, as it can be divided and make two nice-size farms with a house on each. Possession given November 1st, 1914, with the exception of the corn land, which will be when the corn is cribbed. Terms of sale, one-third of the purchase money November 3rd, 1914, and the other two-thirds in one and two years, with a lien retained on the land and six per cent. interest per annum on deferred payments. If the purchaser prefers they can pay all cash. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids if not satisfactory.

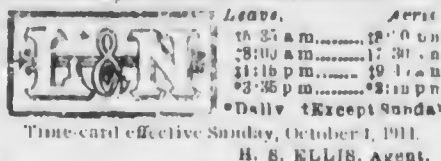

Any one wishing to buy will please call at my rooms at the residence of Mr. P. W. Wheeler, 221 West Second street, Maysville, Ky.

DUMDUM BULLETS

Expanding Kind First Made In Town of Same Name.

(New York Mail.)
The French accuse the Germans of using dumdum bullets in Alsace. They have made a collection of these missiles, and promise to enter formal complaint about them before the Hague tribunal, or before the representatives of the powers of all the world.

Dumdum bullets have their name from a little town in India, near Calcutta, where the ammunition factory for the British Government in India is situated. For the benefit of Afghans, possible Indian mutineers, negroes and other barbarians, the British had a bullet manufactured here which is half covered with steel, but with a soft leaden nose, when discharged from a modern rifle of high power, this soft nose expands, or "mushrooms," turning the bullet in the air into a horrible bulging object which tears through the flesh of a man, surely leading him to death.

The purpose of this bullet is to kill the man every time. The purpose of the ordinary humane bullet of modern warfare, which is wholly incased in steel or nickel, is merely to put the man out of the fight. It makes a small, clean wound. If it does not strike a vital part the bullet may go entirely through the man without wounding him seriously. But it shuts him out of the fight for the time being.

Our British friends in India considered that a humane bullet like that would be of little use to fight savages with and therefore, at Dumdum, they manufactured the soft nosed, expanding bullet. But the International Conference at The Hague in 1899 decided against the use of this bullet in war, and adopted a rule forbidding it.

WHAT TOMMY ADKINS EATS

Publication of British Soldiers' Menu Follows General French's Praise of the Commissary.

When General French's report of the first week's fighting of the British army in France was received it was noted that in mentioning the various branches of the service which had contributed to the success of the movement, he laid particular stress upon the wonderful work the commissary department had done. The early movements of the army were in the form of alternate stands and retreats, a fight all day and a retreat at night. Yet the commissary was able to keep up with and serve Tommy Atkins and keep his stomach full. And Tommy fought like a lion although he did not relish the continuous retrograde. Thus Lord Kitchener's promise at the beginning of hostilities has been carried out.

"Every man on the battle line will fight on a full stomach," he said and the publication of Tommy's menu shows plainly that England's war minister has made good his word. Every soldier is allowed a pound and a half of bacon and beef per day; a pound and a half of bread with cheese or jam and two ounces of tobacco.

FIFTY YEARS AGO IN CINCINNATI.

(Commercial Tribune.)

OCTOBER 3, 1861.

On Sunday last a lady and gentleman belonging to Sanford's Mustard Troupe were married, but the match evidently proved not a happy one since the bride of two days eloped with another gentleman yesterday.

There were eight packet arrivals yesterday and nine departures. Business was good on the landing and all boat men report a heavy trade in all directions.

The weather was cool and cloudy with rain during the afternoon and evening. The thermometer ranged from 61 to 69 deg. during the day.

Captain Thompson, local recruiting officer, established a new record during the past ten days of September when he enlisted 700 men, practically all of whom have gone to the front. One hundred and seventy-five men were drafted in the Seventh Ward yesterday, thus completing the quota to be furnished by that ward under the last call.

The men of New York will hold a festival at Old Fellows' Hall tomorrow night, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of a flag for the Loyal League.

Gold continues to decline, being quoted in New York yesterday at 180, with a view to that it will go lower to day. Wheat was quoted on the Chicago market yesterday at $1.13, corn $1.21 and oats $1.60 and the entire list very weak.

Grant's campaign war maps are now offered for sale by booksellers and are warranted "to give the observer a perfectly clear view of the war situation."

THE COCKTAIL.

(Philadelphia Evening Ledger.)
Who invented the cocktail? Some bartender? A lion vivand? Or was it discovery the result of a drunken frolic?

The cocktail was invented by M. S. Elizabeth Planchon, widow of an Irish soldier who fell in the service of the American army during the Revolution. After her husband's death, Mrs. Planchon became an army sutler, following a troop of Virginia horse under Colonel Barr. In the winter of 1778 she took up quarters with the troop in a place called Four Chambers, on the road between Tarrytown and White Plains, N. Y., near the residence of John D. Kirkpatrick. There Mrs. Planchon set up a bar, which soon became the rendezvous of the "swags" of that day. One day the hostess surprised her guests by announcing a new drink—the cocktail—supposed to have been named after the blending of colors in the tail of a gamecock.

THE CUB'S FAUX PAS.

(Philadelphia Evening Ledger.)
This may be a base libel on an honored professor, but it is told by the man who perpetrated the faux pas. He was a reporter for a Baltimore paper—or had been one for about an hour, thus being his first experience in newspaper work—when the city editor sent him out to see Corbush Gibbons. The "cub" rushed down to the modest white house where the venerable prelate lived and rang the bell. A man servant opened the door.

"Is the Cardinal at home?" asked the reporter.

"No, sir."

"Oh, Mrs. Gibbons will do," explained the "cub."

A FISCAL COURT'S MISTAKE.

As a rule the Fiscal Courts in Kentucky have not been backward about voting funds for the employment of farm demonstration agents. An exception is noted in Hopkins county, where the Fiscal Court has refused to appropriate any amount whatever.

The Federal Government expends a large amount of money every year in paying the salaries of the farm agents, but it expects the counties to meet it half way in the matter of expense. In other words it will pay half the agent's salary provided the court will pay the other half. This is a reasonable proposition and one that has been accepted readily by a score or more counties in Kentucky.

Hopkins county employed a farm demonstration agent a year ago. The Fiscal Court, then as now, refused to give any assistance and the money was raised by private subscription, the Hopkins County Commercial Club leading in the campaign for funds. The Commercial Club and the farmers of the county will raise the money again this year, as they believe that the farm agent has more than earned his salary and that the work he has done should be continued.

The Fiscal Court is making a mistake in not giving assistance. There is nothing more necessary to the prosperity of Kentucky than agricultural development. The farm agents everywhere are proving their worth. They are giving the farmers help that can be had in no other way. Assuredly the public funds can be appropriated to no better purpose than in promoting crop production and incalculating system and economy in farm procedure. —Courier-Journal.

GENERAL NOGI'S PROPHECY.

(From The Boston Herald.)

It is interesting to recall what the distinguished military strategist General Nogi said at the time of the siege of Port Arthur, and note how accurately he located the field on which the future of Europe would be fought out and determined. His words were:

"I believe that the world will witness a great war, which will have all Europe for its battle ground, and will settle the Franco-German question and the Anglo-German rivalry. France and Germany will meet in this last decisive conflict on the Belgian plains, probably near Waterloo, the only spot which will permit of the evolution of the immense armies which will face each other. At the present time the French and German frontiers are too strongly fortified for either people to force its way through. I have little doubt as to the result of this war. France will beat Germany on land, and England will crush Germany at sea."

"This war will be the last in Europe for many a day, perhaps forever; the German states will emerge from this war so exhausted and so terrified that they will have no other object than to find some sort of condition that may in the future obviate the recurrence of any such catastrophe."

NOT DRUGS.

Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

"From early childhood I suffered with terrible constipation that I had to use laxatives continuously going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time.

"A prominent physician whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were weakened and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at different times about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the pre-digested food, Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts digested easily from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed.

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Try it days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a Reason."

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present! Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toil on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

BETTER ROAD BUILDING.

It is encouraging to those who want to see better roads in Kentucky to note that the number of applicants taking the examination at Frankfort for the position of county road engineer is larger than ever before.

Fifty of those who underwent the examination, it is stated, had previously taken a course in scientific road building at the State University. There are indications of a growing interest all over the State in the construction of better roads. Good engineering is now generally recognized as essential to good building.

Many of the roads in Kentucky are poorly located. Much of the work that is done in the way of road repair is not efficient. The engineer who gives good service to his county will more than earn his salary, and the county will save money by employing him. With the services of an engineer available at all times, the highways can receive systematic attention, and that, above all things, is what they need. In the opening of new roads and the repairing and relocation of old ones it is important that the county should have the advice and cooperation of a competent engineer.

The counties also should avail themselves of the assistance which can be freely had from the State Good Roads Department at Frankfort. In cases where extensive improvements are to be made, bridges built, contracts let, or problems of various kinds to be solved, the department should be consulted and its aid invoked. Increase in knowledge of road construction should bring better roads and should cause less money to be wasted in future on inefficient work.—Courier-Journal.

PUBLIC HEALTH IN INDIANA.

Health administration in Indiana has for a long time past been vigorous and energetic, as it is in many of our other States. It has also been unique, peculiarly up-to-date and popular in its methods of attracting attention and enforcing instruction. The latest activity of the health forces of the State is thoroughly characteristic. Governor Ralston has issued a proclamation designating Friday, October 2, 1914, as Disease Prevention Day. He urges the cities and towns throughout that State to make special arrangements for appropriate exercises, emphasizing the importance of public health, and to point responsibility of all citizens there for in order to inspire in them a desire to co-operate in all same efforts for the prevention of physical diseases. The state board of health has prepared a special bulletin containing a copy of the governor's proclamation and suggestions for the celebration of Disease Prevention Day in the towns of Indiana. Some of these suggestions are terse and apt and deserve to be circulated, viz:

- "The only good fly is the dead fly."
- "Well kept alleys pay better dividends than well kept cemeteries."
- "Public health is public wealth."
- "But the rat and swat the fly."
- "Don't take patent medicines."
- "All the time is clean up time."
- "Dust, dirt, dampness, darkness, drink, will always kill."

YELLOWSTONE'S "FISHPOT."

"In September last," says a writer in the September Wide World Magazine "I made a trip through the Yellowstone National Park, a veritable wonderland. One of the more striking features is a freak of Nature called the 'Fishpot.' This 'Fishpot' is a rock formation—probably of volcanic origin—shaped like an inverted cone and several yards in circumference. In the heart of the cone is a pool of boiling water, and as the 'Fishpot' is just at the edge of the Yellowstone Lake, with the waters of the lake partly surrounding it, those who are lucky with the rod may stand on the outer or rocky part of the lake, catch a fish in the cool waters of the lake, and without removing it from the hook, drop it into the 'Fishpot' and boil it."

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the state-ments of grateful endorser who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice told and confirmed with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following. It's from a Maysville resident:

Mrs. John Wallingford, 108 Commerce St., Maysville, Ky., says: "Several of my neighbors have been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills, and one of my family was also cured of a serious case of kidney complaint after other medicines had failed. Every once in awhile I use Doan's Kidney Pills. In that way I keep my kidneys in proper working order and ward off any sign of kidney trouble. I am glad to confirm the statement I gave some years ago, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

SMUT PREVENTIONS.
Wheat should be treated with Blue Stone before sowing, in order to avoid smut. Dissolve one pound of pulverized Blue Stone in five gallons of hot water, spread the wheat out and thoroughly sprinkle with the Blue Stone water. Shovel the wheat into wet, then cover with sacks, and do not disturb for several hours. It is then ready for sowing. The pound of Blue Stone will be sufficient for eight bushels of wheat.

DR. SMOOT HOME AGAIN.

Dr. P. H. Smoot is home again after three weeks' absence in Chicago where he attended special clinics.

General N. S. Harlow and wife and sister, Mrs. Noyes Burdette and his brother, Mrs. A. Harlow of Charleston, W. Va., were guests at the Central Hotel Saturday night, leaving Sunday morning in their auto for Lexington to attend the Trials.

The General says:
If your dealer offers you an unknown brand of roofing, ask him who stands behind it and whether the manufacturer is a responsible concern. If he doesn't know, or if he refuses to give you the information, you are justified in buying elsewhere. Dealers who handle

Certain-teed

Quality Roofing Durable Guarantees

—do not hesitate to say who makes it. In fact, one of their strongest arguments is to tell their customers that we are the manufacturers of Certain-teed Roofing.

Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed 5 years for 1-ply, 10 years for 2-ply, and 15 years for 3-ply, and we stand behind this guarantee with the biggest roofing and building paper mills in the world.

PUBLICITY

Bare Cure for Corporate Diseases.

The startling disclosure of corporate mismanagement in the last ten years have brought about a general feeling that publicity of corporate affairs is both necessary and desirable for the future well-being of all corporations. This publicity may be affected in many ways and should give the public as well as the stockholders such information as will eliminate all possible chances for corruption and mismanagement.

In the past, managers of some corporations have concealed their business in a more or less arrogant fashion, persistently refusing to make their acts known to the public or even to their stockholders. In most instances if these operations had been made public at the time, many of the ills from which they are now suffering would not have occurred, and millions of dollars of investment would have been saved. The effect of corporate mismanagement is greatly magnified, however, when its theory is given too late for governmental investigation. Generally speaking, if the facts were voluntarily made public, or if they were made known through established methods of publicity, the mismanagement of the corporation would never occur or it could be remedied immediately and the bad effect of it would be comparatively small.

And so it is with many houses of business—in the field of commerce the manufacturer. They are afraid of publicity—at least to have their factories examined and to let purchasers verify statements of facts concerning the goods. The only chance to be reached in such case is that the manufacturer has something to conceal, which, if discovered, would not bear out his assertions.

Publicity in relation to all business matters is the best cure for their evils, just as light and air kill the germs of disease.

Consult your local dealer. He will be glad to give you detailed information about our complete line of goods, and will quote you reasonable prices. Be sure goods are made and guaranteed by us.
